Neonia

In the heart of Invicta, Neonia is an alternative city that offers an unforgettable visit to another Porto - a Porto architecturally designed by a retro-futuristic vision and with a cyberpunk filter, where the inhabitants are the visitors themselves.

On a total area of 1500 m2, visitors can discover various immersive spaces. With different artistic interpretations, scenographic materials, projections, sound design and colorful lighting, this is a unique entertainment space that unfolds its full potential when shared.

IMPORTANT: The visit is not recommended for people with pacemakers, epilepsy, claustrophobia and/or photosensitivity.

Bookshop Lello

Livraria Lello is more than just a bookshop, it is a historical and architectural masterpiece in the center of Porto. Opened in 1906, Livraria Lello & Irmão, as it is also known, combines elements of neo-Gothic, Art Deco and Art Nouveau. These include intricate woodwork, a large stained glass window with the bookshop's monogram and the motto "Decus in labore" (dignity at work, in Latin) and a remarkable red spiral staircase that begins as one staircase and splits into two, joining in a circular design. The latter is a major attraction as it resembles the Grand Staircase from the Harry Potter films, and as J.K. Rowling once lived in Porto, there's a good chance this place inspired her.

Livraria Lello has become so popular with tourists that since July 2015, the store charges 5 euros entry and queues can last over an hour. You can buy tickets on the website.

T2 - Portodouro - Santa Catarina

Cervejaria Brasão Aliados

Brasão ist eine Erfolgsgeschichte in Porto. Und warum? Weil es ein "Sohn" des O Papparico in Areosa ist, und das ist immer ein gutes Zeichen; und weil es eines der wenigen Restaurants ist, das bei den Snacks mit der Qualität mithalten kann und knallharte "francesinha"-Sandwiches (mit leichteren Optionen) und Rumpsteaks oder Lendensteaks anbietet. Die Speisekarte ist einfach, aber hier ist unser Rat: Beginnen Sie mit gebratenen Zwiebeln in schwarzer Knoblauchmayo und wählen Sie zum Nachtisch die Haselnuss-Schokoladenmousse. Jetzt wissen Sie es also.

September 3 - Day 3 - Gerês

Canyoning

Canyoning is a sport that consists of progressively exploring a river, overcoming vertical obstacles, using different techniques (jumping into the water, abseiling, etc.) and equipment. It is a symbiosis of nature, adventure and the pleasure of crystal-clear waters.

The Serra do Gerês certainly has some of the most beautiful rivers for practicing this sport, and its natural setting offers unique moments given its wild characteristics, where man's intervention is practically invisible. The thrill and adrenaline are the main attraction for those who fall in love with exploring canyons. As the river progresses, practitioners can be surprised by new and unexpected situations.

Being in permanent contact with nature gives the practitioner an inexplicable feeling of freedom and harmony. Contrary to what some people think, canyoning is an extremely safe sport that uses high-tech, high-performance equipment. Safety is high, as the technical supervision is carried out by specialized personnel.

Duration: 5 hours

This activity is only possible between June and September, depending on weather conditions.

Other months can be arranged on request.

Additional information:

- Wear comfortable clothing (swimming trunks, bikini);
- If you don't want to rent boots, make sure you wear suitable footwear (sneakers, boots or rubber-soled shoes);
- Sunscreen recommended

After a good breakfast, drive your rental car to Arouca , with a stop in Amarante for lunch and to explore the city

Amarante

Your first stop will be in Amarante, one of the most romantic towns in Portugal. Admire the Tâmega River, an important tributary of the Douro that flows through this region. You will then continue to Peso da Régua. Located on the banks of the Douro River, Peso da Régua played a fundamental role in the production and distribution of Port wine, as it was from here that the barrels were transported to Vila Nova de Gaia, where the wine aged in the local cellars. In this region, the vines are grown on terraced slopes overlooking the river, offering visitors a series of spectacular views that can be admired from the area's many viewpoints.

Arouca

Arouca is a charming town in the Aveiro district of Portugal, known for its stunning landscapes, rich history, and cultural heritage. Here are some of the main attractions in Arouca:

Arouca Geopark: A UNESCO Global Geopark, this area features a variety of geological wonders, hiking trails, and breathtaking scenery. The Paiva Walkways (Passadiços do Paiva) are a highlight, offering a scenic walk along the Paiva River.

Arouca Monastery (Mosteiro de Arouca): This historic monastery dates back to the 10th century and is an architectural gem. It houses a museum with a significant collection of religious art and artifacts.

Frecha da Mizarela: A stunning waterfall located in the Serra da Freita mountain range. It is one of the highest waterfalls in Portugal and offers spectacular views.

Pedras Parideiras: A unique geological phenomenon found in the Serra da Freita. These "birthing stones" are granite rocks that release smaller stones from their interior—a rare and fascinating natural occurrence.

House of the Douro Work (Casa das Pedras Parideiras): An interpretation center where visitors can learn more about the Pedras Parideiras phenomenon and the geological history of the region.

Traditional Villages: Discover the charming and picturesque villages of Arouca, such as Alvarenga, known for its traditional houses and the famous Alvarenga steak.

Adventure Sports: Arouca offers a variety of adventure sports such as canyoning, climbing, and paragliding, especially around the Paiva River.

Gastronomy: Don't miss the chance to taste the local cuisine, especially Arouca's traditional sweets like Castanhas Doces and Rosquilhas de Arouca.

These attractions make Arouca a wonderful destination for nature lovers, history enthusiasts, and those seeking a peaceful retreat.

September 5 - Day 5- Arouca

Arouca Geopark

The Arouca Geopark, located in northern Portugal, is a UNESCO Global Geopark known for its rich geodiversity and stunning landscapes. It spans 328 km² and includes 41 geological sites of significant scientific interest, such as the trilobite fossils of Canelas and the "Pedras Parideiras" (birthing stones).

The park is ideal for outdoor activities, with hiking trails like the Paiva Walkways and the 516 Arouca Bridge, the longest pedestrian suspension bridge in the world. It also offers adventure sports like rafting and canyoning on the Paiva River.

Culturally, it stands out with the Arouca Monastery, the Trilobite Museum, and traditional villages that showcase a rich blend of natural and cultural heritage. The Arouca Geopark is an excellent choice for lovers of nature, history, and culture.

516 Arouca Bridge and Paiva Walkways

Discover the Arouca 516 suspension bridge and the Paiva Walkways on a guided tour starting from Alvarenga. Explore one of the most beautiful and wild river gorges in northern Portugal with an expert guide.

Your tour begins in Alvarenga, where you'll meet your guide. There, you'll receive a safety briefing and interesting insights about the Arouca Geopark and the Paiva Valley. Then, you'll start your hike along old village paths toward the 516 Arouca suspension bridge.

Once at the bridge, you'll cross it in an exclusive group—just your guide and fellow participants. The feeling of “floating” above the breathtaking landscape is unforgettable. If you prefer not to cross the bridge on foot, you can be taken to the other side free of charge in a 4x4 vehicle.

Next, you'll head to the Paiva Walkways, a wooden boardwalk that follows the cliffs of the Paiva Gorge. Along the way, your guide will show you the best photo spots and share fascinating information about biodiversity, geological phenomena, archaeology, and the historical and cultural heritage of the valley.

Around the halfway point, we'll take a break at the Vau river beach, where you can enjoy traditional snacks, fresh juices, and fruit with a stunning view. On hot days, the river invites you to take a refreshing swim—so don't forget your swimwear!

From here, the path becomes easier but no less impressive. The boardwalk now runs closer to the river, allowing you to feel the power of the rapids—on Portugal's best whitewater rafting river.

After the hike, you'll relax at a beautiful river beach along the Paiva.

Our tour ends in Espiunca, a picturesque village with a scenic river beach. Here you can enjoy a cool drink or snack on the panoramic terrace, swim in the crystal-clear waters of the Paiva, or simply take in the peace and beauty of nature.

Sítio da Nazaré

The former settlement, grouped around the sanctuary and located on a rocky outcrop, still preserves part of the religious architectural complex and a number of traditional motifs.

The cliff drops 318 meters into the sea and can be reached on foot (for the brave) or by elevator. At the top is the small Ermida da Memória, where legend has it that the Virgin Mary saved the horse of the nobleman D. Fuas Roupinho from falling over the cliff. Whether true or not, the Suberco viewpoint shows the mark that the horseshoe left on the cliff on that misty morning in 1182.

You can also visit the pilgrimage church of Nossa Senhora da Nazaré and, not far away, the Dr. Joaquim Manso Museum to learn more about the traditions of the Nazarenes.

Ascensor (Elevator)

At the beginning of the 19th century, when the area around Nazaré beach was settled, the difficulty of access to the place was always evident, an obstacle that influenced the development of the place and the settlement of its inhabitants.

To serve the interests of the population and facilitate the arrival of pilgrims to the pilgrimage church of Senhora da Nazaré, a company was founded at the end of the 19th century to build a mechanical elevator.

This project was the brainchild of engineer Raul Mesnier du Ponsard, who was also responsible for most of the elevators and funiculars in Lisbon.

The track was laid in its own bed, with the cable running on rollers over a length of 318 meters at a gradient of 42%.

Inaugurated on July 28, 1889, the Nazaré lift is now considered one of the best initiatives in the city's history, as it boosted the growth of the Sítio and made the connection to the beach more dynamic.

It was acquired in 1924 by the Brotherhood of Our Lady of Nazaré to raise funds for the maintenance of the hospital and to facilitate access to the sanctuary for the faithful.

In 1932, the Ascensor was sold to the Municipality of Nazaré, which assumed responsibility for the use and maintenance of this means of transportation, which is part of the city's cultural heritage.

The first carriages were powered by a steam engine, which was in operation until 1963, the date of the only accident in the elevator's history.

After the accident, the elevator was shut down for five years before being put back into service with new cabins and a new drive, transmission and electric drive system with triple braking.

This elevator is currently managed by the Municipal Services of Nazaré, and every year investments are made in various necessary improvements, both in terms of comfort and safety. The Nazaré elevator is one of the city's greatest "ex-libris". It is a must-see for anyone visiting Nazaré, and the funicular with the most admissions in recent years at a national level.

Normal opening hours:

Daily from 07:15 to 20:00 every 15 minutes.

The monastery, a UNESCO World Heritage site, features intricate stone carvings, grand cloisters, and the final resting place of prominent figures like Vasco da Gama and Luís de Camões.

Pastéis de Belém: Pastéis de Belém is the home of Lisbon's most famous pastry: Pastel de Belém or Pasteis de Nata - an egg custard pie that goes perfectly with a bica - the Portuguese espresso. SandCity is an incredible open-air sand sculpture park located in Lagoa, Algarve. Covering over 50,000 square meters, the park features more than 120 sculptures, offering a stunning visual experience. The sculptures are created by national and international artists, showcasing intricate designs from diverse themes such as history, culture, and fantasy.

In addition to the sculptures, SandCity offers fun activities for all ages, including a sand sculpture area where visitors can try creating their own art. The park is pet-friendly, includes comfortable rest areas, and has a snack bar open from June to November. Visitors can also enjoy a unique fish spa, where "doctor fish" provide a foot treatment by removing dead skin cells. SandCity is a must-visit attraction for families and art lovers in the Algarve.
